M&O PARTNER CHARLES McCORMICK ADDRESSES GLOBAL CONFERENCE OF FINANCIAL SERVICES ICT ENTREPRENEURS

New York, NY, June 15, 2008

M&O Partner Charles F. McCormick recently completed a speaking engagement to a conference of international financial services information and communications technology (ICT) entrepreneurs held in New York City from June 10 through June 13. Conference participants were leaders of successful international financial services ICT companies who were attending the New York City conference to investigate opportunities in the U.S. commercial and capital markets. Mr. McCormick's address focused on aspects of U.S. business law and strategy for non-U.S. companies entering the U.S. markets.

Mr. McCormick observed to conference participants that: "With a sophisticated consumer and business commercial market of 300 million and counting, and the most well developed and entrepreneurial private financing markets in the world, the U.S. is an obvious destination for innovative leaders with scalable businesses, top-tier technology and big plans."

Regarding the conference participants, Mr. McCormick commented that: "technology innovation is increasingly a global activity. We're not in a world where the U.S. provides all of the innovation and the rest of the world provides the labor or the manufacturing. The ICT innovation at this conference is a great example of best of breed technology created and developed outside of the U.S. Still, the U.S. market is the unequivocal world leader in technology innovation, and that makes success in the U.S. market a key goal for any company looking to be recognized as a global leader."

Conference participants included representatives of Sydney, Australia based BCM in a Box and Victoria, Australia, based iComply.
